

Kathryn White

Children's Author

Kathryn's first picture book, autobiographical, When They Fight, was published by Oxford University Press. It was beautifully illustrated by Cliff Wright, using soft watercolour, and depicted a family of badgers in conflict and final resolution. She was thrilled when the book was selected as a Notable Book for Social Studies by the USA Libraries Association. This kickstarted Kathryn's real desire to specialise in children's fiction so she went on to write Here Comes The Crocodile, Little Tiger Press, which was shortlisted for the Sheffield and Nottingham Book Awards.
