

Claire Garber

Writer

Claire Garber was born in 1978 in Southampton, England. She is a freelance writer and novelist. She lives between London and the French Alps. Not a town between the two. Rather she splits her time between the two locations. When not writing she spends as much time as possible on skis or a snowboard, but restricts these activities to when she is in the Alps.

