

Kirsty Sturgess

Hailing from Australia, Kirsty's career in film began after graduating from The Royal Central School of Speech and Drama in 2018 with a Masters in Acting for Screen. Prior to this, Kirsty performed in numerous professional musical theatre productions including RENT, Bring It On and GHOST.

She can currently be seen as lead detective 'Meg Driscoll' in crime drama 'North Shore', on Paramount+ and soon ITV. In 2022, Kirsty featured in Ron Howard's biographical survival film 'Thirteen Lives' as well as 'The Young Rock' on NBC. She recently played the lead part in 'The Wilted Rose', a social impact film about domestic violence which won Best Short Film at Brisbane International Film Festival this October.

Kirsty was named one of 2023's 'Best New Talent' by Insider magazine Australia.'
