

Rianna Simons

Writer

Rianna Simons is a Bermudian-British playwright and writer. Her debut play White Girls Gang was shortlisted for the 2023 Yale Drama Series Prize and longlisted for the Bruntwood Prize for Playwriting as well as the Mustapha Matura Award. Rianna has worked with the Almeida Theatre as a part of their 'Anthem' writer's group and at the Royal Court Theatre on attachment. She currently works at the National Theatre Archive.

Agents

Florence Hyde

fhyde@unitedagents.co.uk

Credits

In Development

Production	Company	Notes
WHITE GIRLS GANG 2024		Play Shortlisted for the 2023 Yale Drama Series Prize Longlisted for the Bruntwood Prize for Playwriting Longlisted for the Mustapha Matura Award
