

Russell Davies

Writer / Presenter

Russell Davies has been a freelance writer and broadcaster since 1970. He has written biographies of the cartoonist Vicky and the graphic artist Ronald Searle, and edited the diaries and letters of the actor Kenneth Williams. For television and radio, he has presented many cultural and political documentaries and series, including more than sixty editions of What The Papers Say. In newspapers, he has been a film critic, television critic, sports columnist, diarist and feature writer, but managed never to work for Robert Maxwell.

Publications

Other

| Publication Details | Notes |
|--|--|
| Foreign Body 1996 bloomsbury | This is an account of the origins of Robert Maxwell's business success in the intelligence community, his links thereafter with the worlds most foremost intelligence agencies, and the backroom diplomacy which took him to the heart of world affairs. |
| Ronald Searle: Biography 1990 chris beetles | |
