

Alexander Stuart

Based in Los Angeles, British-born Alexander Stuart is a novelist and screenwriter, whose books have been translated into eight languages and published in the US, Britain, Europe, Israel and around the world.

His most controversial novel, The War Zone, about a family torn apart by incest, was turned into a multi-award-winning film by Oscar nominated actor/director, Tim Roth. Stuart's non-fiction account of the eight years he spent living in Miami, Life On Mars, formed the basis for his Channel 4 television documentary, The End Of America.
